

The Medicaid expansion has helped put New Mexico back to work

By FY 2020, the Medicaid expansion will have created 11,100 new jobs in New Mexico

About two-thirds of those jobs are in health care, including:

Doctors

Nurses

Medical technicians

Physical therapists

and much more

The other third are in the many businesses where those new health care workers spend their wages, including:

Grocery stores

Restaurants

Local theaters

Auto mechanics

Child care centers

and much more

And all of these new jobs are good for the state's economy
